Creating Your Own Pop Art

Pop artists encourage people to look more closely at the everyday objects around them.

Without turning around, what is in the room behind you? _____

What everyday objects are in this painting? _____

What things would you like to put in a painting? _____

Try it at home!

Choose two or three objects from your house that don't have anything to do with each other.

Example: A fork, ironing board and a stapler.

Create a landscape drawing or painting using your three objects. Try making the smallest object the biggest and the biggest object the smallest. Maybe the ironing board can be a house, the fork is a car and the stapler is a tree. Experiment with color – does the fork have to be silver? Can it be purple?

Use your imagination!
